

FROM

A REALLY BIG LUNCH

"I have often thought that if I received an early warning that I would pass on sooner rather than later, I'd get myself to Lyon and eat for a solid month, after which they could tip me from a gurney into the blessed Rhône. Maybe I'd swim all the way downstream to Arles for my last supper."